In Spiritual Drought? A time of Renewal

Point 1: A drought does not happen _____ but begins with a day-by-day encroachment on our _____.

Point 2: A drought occurs when more _____ are being used than are being _____.

Point 3: In times of _____ drought, it may take a _____ event to end the drought.

Point 4: We can sometimes be near or even in the presence of a _____ without recognizing the _____ of what is there.

Point 5: _____ is the source of living water. He is the only one that can end _____ drought.

Preacher's Porch

It shall forever remain etched in my memory as one of my favorite meals of all-time. In truth, it was a small bowl of microwave macaroni, a bag of Cheetos and a piece of beef jerky. In retrospect, I wasn't even that hungry. In quality, it was mostly lacking being just exactly what it sounds like. So "Why?" you might wonder, was it one of my favorite meals?

That answer can be found simply and profoundly in the one who prepared it for me. You see, I was having one of my moments when everyone around me was rolling their eyes. I was trying to fix the side-view mirror on Tina's Suburban and was quite frustrated at my own inability to get the door panel off (some hidden screws) when I wandered in to the computer to see if I could look it up. Tina made the mistake of asking me what was for dinner and I, with that edge in my voice that is designed to say I have more important things to worry about, responded something like, "Whatever someone wants to fix! I'm trying to fix this stupid mirror!" (Stupid is not a cuss word kids.)

And so, several minutes later, I came in and harrumphed into my chair still defeated and even more frustrated. After pouting for a few minutes I noted, "I guess I'll make myself a sandwich," as I started to stand up.

It was Michelle that stopped me short when she rolled her eyes, threw up her hands and, closely mimicking my disgust of minutes before said, "Oh Great! I guess I just wasted all that food." (Slap... Wake up dad!)

You see, while I had been outside grouching about and later inside, she had gone to work fixing me a dinner fit for a king (at least in the eyes of an 8 year old). She made me all her favorites; macaroni, Cheetos, and the soft beef jerky. And I hadn't even noticed. Not her efforts. Not her desire to make it better. Not her time or attention in taking care of my needs. But she had put love in.

And that is just like what I often do with Christ. You see, I get so caught up in my little problems, my dramas, my selfishness that I forget that Christ said, "all things are ready, come to the feast." (Rev 3:10). I forget that He is the one who paid the price, lived the perfect life, and put His hands in the place of mine on the cross. I fail to appreciate His efforts on my behalf and instead ignore the opportunity to dine with the savior so I can enjoy my self-pity.

Do you doubt it? When was the last time your mind wandered during the "Lord's supper?" When was the last time you ignored what was right in favor of what was convenient? When was the last time you went out of your way to tell someone the truth of the gospel?

My thought for the week; give thanks that we don't have to be perfect, we just have to be in Christ.

Have a blessed week.
Todd
