Know Christ

Point 1: Many people today have been taught that the only thing necessary for salvation is to _____ that Jesus is the Son of God. Still others believe all you have to do is to _____ your faith in Him. By and Large, these are only _____ truths that are _____ lies.

Point 2: The Demons of Hell know enough to believe that Jesus is the Son of God and yet they are destined for _____ because their belief was not enough to cause them to be obedient to the Father.

Point 3: The Demons _____ that Jesus was (is) the "Holy one of God" and were often some of the most vocal _____ to the authority of Christ on Earth. Yet that was not and is not enough to save them from _____.

Point 4: The only thing that will assure us of eternal salvation is being covered by the blood of the Lamb; made like Him through _____ to the will of God. This is an _____ process; not something we simply do _____ and forget.

Point 5: We can have blessed assurance that Jesus is mine if we have been _____ in the blood of the Lamb and are continuing to strive for the _____ that comes from being _____ to be like Christ.

Boy I hate it when that happens! When you just "phone it in" and don't really show up mentally; and then you catch yourself; just after it is a moment too late...the embarrassment is almost equal to the relief the other person can't really "see" you. Now, if you don't know what I am talking about, let me tell you what happened to me recently.

Back about Halloween, Tina and I decided to change electricity providers. The trouble is, it is now almost February and we still haven't received a bill from the new provider. So, I was recently talking to our old provider trying to track down all the relevant information...phone number, account balance, disconnect date, etc. when they began to market their service to me trying to get me to switch back. At that point, I was only half-way listening, thinking instead of what I needed to do next. I zoned out and was "phoning in" my conversation with the person on the phone. I was talking, my mouth was moving, my brain was not.

And so, at the end of the conversation, I said, "Okay, thanks. See you later. Love you. Bye."

My brain caught up at about the same time I heard the person on the other end stifle a snort. I am sure they appreciated the "love you" and the "see you later" both coming from someone they had never met. I was very glad I could simply hang up the phone and end my awkward embarrassment.

But how many times do we do the same thing with our worship to God? How many times do we "zone out" during a sermon, take a "mental vacation" during a prayer, or get caught up in "what-comes-next" and all we have to do instead of being present in the presence of God? How often do we "phone in" what ought to be our moment of refuge and a time to connect to God by simply "going through the motions" without really being engaged mentally and spiritually?

I think there is a reason that the Bible talks so much about God's desire that we seek Him with "all your heart." There is a purpose to the command to love Him with all our soul and mind and strength Continued inside...

 (Matt 22:37, Mark 12:30, Luke 10:27). You see, we can't just let habit take over and still have a real relationship with our Father. We need to be in His presence and we need to be present. In Him, Todd
